

Our 80800 Series will be getting a new look in 4th Qtr of 2015. The upper casting design has changed and will also include embossed logos. The new look machines will have a 'N' at the end of the existing styles, for example .. 80800C will become 80800CN.

A couple of design changes will also be included with this new look. They are:

- 1) All the sewing parts will have a special rust-prevention coating on them.
- 2) A new needle bar guard design that eliminates the threads from the casting.

All the internal parts remain the same and the new sewing parts can be used on older machines.

The other non-top feed styles (80200 & 81200) will also be getting this new look casting in 2016, but the styles will remain the same.
